1. When we are abandoned to God, He works through us all the time.
2. God never gives strength for tomorrow, or for the next hour, but only for the strain of the minute. . . . The saint is hilarious when he is crushed with difficulties because the thing is so ludicrously impossible to anyone but God.
3. Get into the habit of saying, "Speak, Lord," and life will become a romance.
4. The Sermon on the Mount is not a set of rules and regulations; it is a statement of the life we will live when the Holy spirit is getting His way with us.
5. Have you been asking God what He is going to do? He will never tell you. God does not tell you what He is going to do; He reveals to you Who He is.
6. Jesus Christ was made broken bread and poured-out wine for us, and He expects us to be made broken bread and poured-out wine in His hands for others.
7. Get into the habit of dealing with God about everything. Unless in the first waking moment of the day you learn to fling the door wide back and let God in, you will work on a wrong level all day; but swing the door wide open and pray to your Father in secret, and every public thing will be stamped with His presence.
8. The saint who is intimate with Jesus will never leave impressions of himself, but only the impression that Jesus is having unhindered way, because the last abyss of his nature has been satisfied by Jesus.
9. The measure of the worth of your public activity for God is the profound communion we have with Him in private.
10. The questions that matter in life are remarkably few, and they are all answered by the words, "Come unto Me."
11. It takes God Almighty Incarnate in us to do the meanest duty as it ought to be done.
12. There is nothing easier than getting into a right relationship with God except when it is not God whom you want but only what He gives.
