"Sue presents crucial aspects of Christian living with honesty and wit. I've been encouraged by her down-to-earth applications which helped me shed my inhibitions and go out there and show some hospitality."

"Sue lives life to the fullest-- her whole life is one big invitation to know and be known."

SUE MOORE DONALDSON

SUE MOORE DONALDSON

Sue loves being a “connector”- she knows that one of the deepest secrets of women is that they are lonely. They need connecting with each other and with God. Sue helps women develop their circle of community--starting with Jesus and reaching out to build their network of support and friendship. Sue has a passion to share God with whoever comes her way- one cup of coffee at a time.

WHO WILL BENEFIT?

- anyone who longs for more connection - to God and to other women
- reluctant hostesses who still think entertaining means a 7-course dinner
- women who want to “grow something besides old” - deepening their relationship with God
- those who wish to develop effective relationships with their neighbors and community
- anyone who wants to know God better as their Best Friend and Connector

“I am an undercover agent - my hidden agenda is to introduce people to Jesus and to one another; I actively and unconsciously look for women who need connecting, and find that one of the biggest secrets is that women are lonely (and they don't need to be.) God knows we do 'better together.' As one of the most extroverted people I know, I have still found myself lonely at times. I don't like it. It's a killing feeling. It's different than solitude because it's not by choice. And it sucks the joy out of life.”
